First of Series of Temperance Meetings in District Will Be Held in Mount Pleasant.

With the object of arousing, city wide support for absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic in the District of Columbia, the Anti-Saloon League to night will inaugurate a series of temperance meetings to be held in various churches of the capital. A prohibition bill for the District wil he introduced in Congress early during the next session. The Anti-Saloon League expects that public sentimen will so strongly favor the measure that its enactment will be assured.

Tonight's meeting will be held in Mount Pleasant Congregational Church. Among the speakers will be Albert E shoemaker, attorney for the league Rev. John MacMurray, pastor Union Methodist Episcopal Church, and Rev. George F. Dudley, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Other meetings planned are at Fifth Baptist Church, April 13; Calvary M. Church South, April 15; Eastern Presbyterian Church, April 20; Pet-worth M E. Church, April 27; Rhode island Avenue M. P. Church, April 30, and Anacostia M. E. Church, May 4.

Deny "Watchful Waiting" Policy. Officials of the Anti-Saloon League today denied a published report that the executive committee of the organization, at a meeting last night, had adopted a "walchful waiting" policy with respect to entering prosecutions against saloon dealers whom the league claims were granted licenses illegally by the excise board. There is no intention of abandoning or delaying the plan to contest these through legal action, it is stated. While the officials would not say just when proceedings may be commenced, it is believed that action will be delayed until the return to Washington of Conrad id. Syme, corporation counsel. It is understood that the corporation counsel's office will be asked to bring the prosecutions against the alleged filegal holders of licenses.

Grogan's, 817 to 823 Seventh St.

These considerations apart, the Washington government makes an important and valuable contribution in a suggestion which appears to bear the character of an invitation to the allied governments to declare a formal, long distance blockade, involving on neutrals all the penalties of attempting to break through. We apprehend that jurists will contend the proposal involves a far more serious infraction of international law than the allies present measures, but the plan certainly is worthy of a most friendly examination."

Complains of Wilson.

The Daily Chronicle complains that President Wilson makes no option of he fact that the neutrals have com olete immunity from blockade penal-ies, and adds: "This silence seems to us decidedly the least friendly and least candid thing that President Wilson has done in his correspondence with our government. No doubt the President is in a difficult position and his note seems to reflect perplexity by its very style of expression."

xpression."
The Daily Graphic fails to draw chair and introduced Mr. Bailey, who distinction between the "technical irregularities" the British blockade may involve and the "shameless inhumanity of the German methods of warfare," and adds. "So long as the President argues on this basis his arguments have no interest for the British public. We have to get on with our business."

The Graphic goes on to advocate the confiscation of the property of German subjects in England "if the Germans continue to take the lives of British and neutral subjects on the high seas."

The Daily News says: "The case made by the United States might be contested in its details, but its general soundness is indisputable. The argument that America must be patient because the allies are fighting for the principles of liberty is irrelevant, because the United States is not called upon to decide the rights and wrongs of the war.

Chair and introduced Mr. Bailey, who delivered an address on "The Myth of the Minotaurs and the Cretan Labyrinth." Mr. Bailey, who recently visited the excavations of Sir Arthur Evans in Crete, described the palace of King Minos, which has recently been uncovered, and stated that it has been proved to be identical with the famous labyrinth of the old Greek story.

Historic Basis of Legend.

The lecturer began his address by defining a myth as the artistic form which an important fact in early history assumes through constant repetition, and then showed how archeology has brought to light the historic basis for the legend of Theseus and Ariadne and the Minotaur.
